KLOTZ ASSOCIATES: ENGINEERS ON THE RISE

Houston - Klotz Associates, responding to an increasing number of traffic & transit projects, has announced the promotions of four of its key practice leaders. In the firm's Traffic and Intelligent Transportation Systems (ITS) Department, Sriram Natarajan, PE, PTOE has been named Department Manager, Kevin D. Tyer, PE has moved into the role of Manager of Traffic Services, and Manu P. Isaac, PE has been promoted to Senior Project Manager. And in the TxDOT Department, David Wymore, PE has been named Project Manager.

D. Wayne Klotz, PE, D.WRE, President of Klotz Associates and current National President of the American Society of Engineers (ASCE) commented, "We have great talent here, and we want to continue to cultivate it. Employees like Sriram, Kevin, Manu, and David are examples of proven talent and their promotions recognize that."

Natarajan received an MS in civil engineering from Texas A&M University. He is certified as a Professional Traffic Operations Engineer (PTOE). He has been with Klotz Associates for six years, most recently as Traffic & ITS Project Manager. Natarajan is an active member of several professional organizations, including the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE) and the ITS Society of Texas.

Tyer has 22 years experience as an engineer. He received both his Master's and Bachelor's degrees in civil engineering from Texas A&M. He is an active member of ITE, as well as the American Public Works Association (APWA). Tyer has been with Klotz Associates for seven years. Prior to joining the firm, he was with the City of Tyler as City Traffic Engineer.

Isaac moves from Project Manager into the role of Senior Project Manager in Traffic and ITS. Over the past 15 years, he has focused his engineering career on various traffic and transportation projects with a focus on mobility improvement and public safety. A member of ITE, Isaac received an MS in transportation engineering from Texas A&M. He has been with Klotz Associates for eight years.

Wymore joined the firm last year in the Road & Bridge Department as a Project Engineer. Prior to that, he was with the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) for almost three years. An alumnus of the University of Houston, Wymore has eight years of transportation engineering experience and is a current ASCE member.
